"Brother Charles Goodnight: Texas Cattle King and Western Trail Maker." His story starts on page 25.

Grand Master's Message for October 2005

Here I left you and here I find you. We've arrived at another October and another fall season.

There has been a lot of activity over the past few months. The fall series of Department Conferences are well under way, and we are looking forward to seeing many of you at those Conferences.

We are seeing many positive signs of improvement in membership, long-range planning, financial planning and other areas important to keeping our Commanderies and Grand Commanderies healthy.

As I have suggested several times, the status quo is not acceptable. If we are comfortable in leaving things as they are, we are moving in the wrong direction.

The Board of Directors of the Knights Templar Eye Foundation has decided to start the Golden Anniversary Jubilee Campaign earlier this year. As a matter of fact, it begins this month. We will be bringing this most important effort to your attention and consideration with each succeeding issue of the magazine.

The Eye Foundation has accomplished an astounding success in its first fifty years. Yes, the Knights Templar Eye Foundation is celebrating its fiftieth year in 2006.

We will have a special recognition of that accomplishment during the 63rd Triennial Conclave in Houston. We hope to see many of you at that occasion as well. You will see and hear several special presentations and recognitions at that time.

It was my pleasure to meet a great man and Mason some three years ago, and I ask that you remember Illustrious Brother Walter Weber, Sovereign Grand Commander, A.A.S.R., Northern Masonic Jurisdiction, and his family in your prayers.

At the time of this writing, Hurricane Katrina has wrought devastation upon New Orleans and the states of Mississippi and Alabama. We are setting up a Hurricane Relief Fund for those who wish to contribute to the relief of those folks. If you wish to participate, please send your contributions to the Chicago office marked accordingly. (For more information, see page 5.) Let's all pray for a speedy relief for all involved.

Message from Grand Master Kenneth Fischer
The 38th Annual Voluntary Campaign—
Golden Anniversary Campaign

by Sir Knight Kenneth B. Fischer, Grand Master of the Grand Encampment, Knights Templar of the USA

Fifty years! Yes, this is the start of the fiftieth year of the Knights Templar Eye Foundation! We will officially celebrate the anniversary next August in Houston during the 63rd Triennial Conclave.

The Board of Trustees has decided to name this Campaign the "Golden Anniversary Campaign" in recognition of this achievement.

In the past fifty years we have accomplished the following:

1. Handled over 75,000 cases at a cost of over 90 million dollars.
2. Presented over 8 million dollars of research grants for research in children's eye diseases.
3. Participated in the Seniors EyeCare Program of EyeCare America with the American Academy of Ophthalmology, in which we have helped people over the age of 65 to receive over $6 million in eye care.

These are only the gross figures. The thing that really matters is that we have helped many people retain their sight, we have helped children with crossed eyes live a normal life, and we have funded research which has provided some miraculous new procedures which will help more people than we will ever know. We have done all of this while maintaining our administrative costs at less than 7%. You should be justly proud of this accomplishment.

If we are to continue to grow this great charity, there are changes which must be made. For the past several years we have been taking in just barely enough to cover the costs of our programs. Case loads have increased every year to the point that we are now losing ground. The Board of Trustees of the Eye Foundation have made many hard decisions in an effort to keep expenditures within our means and to raise more money in an effort to "grow the charity." We may have to make more changes during the coming year.

As a result, we have decided to start the Campaign in October this year and carry it through April 2006.

The bottom line is that we still need your help in telling our story to others, outside the fraternity, who would like to help with financial contributions. There are many sources of such help which we are not able to reach without your help. We earnestly solicit your help in this Golden Anniversary Campaign.

This is why we support the Knights Templar Eye Foundation...

I am writing to you today with a most thankful heart for the assistance the Knights Templar Eye Foundation, Inc., has given me twice when I needed eye surgery. My delay in thanking you has been prompted by the hope that I could write a more optimistic report.

Presently, I do not know how much vision I will regain over the next several months, but some eyesight in the affected eye is definitely better than none. Unfortunately, it has taken three surgeries to preserve even partial sight. Every few days something occurs to remind me of how the limited sight in this eye handicaps me in performing everyday tasks. Thank you for helping me to have the hope of doing these things again.

My husband is disabled, and his needs make it advantageous for me to work part time. Unfortunately, that leaves me without benefits such as health insurance and paid sick leave. Recuperation from three surgeries has caused me to be off work for several weeks without pay while our collective medical bills have grown. Your kindness has certainly eased some of this burden on us.

Some of my family members belonged to the Masonic Lodge, but I had never heard of the Knights Templar until the surgeon's office referred me to you for help. Thank you for your generosity. May God continue to bless your work.

Northeastern Department Hail From Pennsylvania

Sir Knight Belford A. Belles, Past Grand Commander of Vermont, writes:

"This past Templar year, 2004-2005, provided what could be considered an 'unusual occurrence' for the Northeastern Department, North and South. From the time period of September to September, of the twelve Grand Commanders serving this Department, five of the Red Cords hailed originally from Pennsylvania. Four of these Sir Knights grew up in the northeastern part of the state: Sir Knight William F. Lott of Connecticut is from Montrose, Sir Knight Matthew Racioppa of Maryland is from Shickshinny, and Sir Knights George J. Knorr of New York and Belford A. Belles from Vermont are from Berwick. The odd man out is Sir Knight George Hulsinger of Pennsylvania, who is from Erie in the northwest."

In Memoriam

Harry F. Yeoman
"Yo Yo the Clown"

August 20, 1911–January 26, 2005

Harry had many friends in the Masonic family, and the staff of Knight Templar magazine will always remember the inspirational story his daughter, Lee Maloney, lovingly penned about his experiences as a Shrine clown cheering hospitalized children. This Christmas story can be found in the November 1993 issue.

Harry Yeoman's favorite poem... SURPRISE IN HEAVEN

I dreamt death came, the other night,
And Heaven's Gate swung wide;
An Angel with a halo bright ushered me inside.

And there! To my astonishment,
Stood folks I'd judged and labeled,
As, "quite unfit"; of "little worth";
And, "spiritually disabled"!

The Founder Of Flag Day

by Sir Knight Joseph J. Kerr
Chartiers Commandery No. 78, Carnegie, Pennsylvania

The national observance of Flag Day each June 14 is due to the untiring efforts of William T Kerr. For more than a half-century, Sir Knight Kerr campaigned for the establishment of Flag Day, appealing to every United States President from William McKinley to Harry S. Truman. He lead rallies and continually promoted the idea of a special day to honor "Old Glory." Kerr was raised in Lodge No. 219 in Wilksburg, Pennsylvania, and was a member of Tancred Commandery No. 48, K T of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. He also belonged to Lu Lu Temple Shrine in Philadelphia. The following article, relayed by his son, describes in brief the life of the man who did more than any other individual to raise the Stars and Stripes to the prominence it deserves.

William T. Kerr was born in Pittsburgh, September 15, 1868. He attended the public schools there, and it is interesting to note that at the early age of 14 he was concerned with the civic, religious, and patriotic issues of the times. He was asked if he would go to Chicago to deliver a Fourth of July speech, and he readily accepted. The papers reported on the very interesting and inspiring speech delivered by a boy of 14. It was while he was returning on the train from this trip that he told the chairman of the committee that if we celebrate our independence on July 4, we ought also to have a day to honor our flag and went on to say that June 14 should be the day since that was the date that the Stars and Stripes became our national emblem in 1777. Thus began the dream, and William Kerr was to spend the rest of his life working to make it a reality.

He began to organize a committee soon after this trip to Chicago and in the next six years was ready to announce the formation of the Western Pennsylvania Flag Day Association. This was in 1888, and their aim was to make June 14 a national holiday to honor Old Glory. Pittsburgh became the first large city to have events leading up to the June 14 celebration, consisting of parades, many programs, and banquets. The school children had their part through participation in essay and poster contests.

In 1898, the Western Pennsylvania Flag Day Association was merged into the American Flag Day Association, making it a national organization. Thousands of letters were written to governors, senators, representatives, and civic and religious groups, along with requests to radio, newspapers, and magazines. Beginning with President McKinley, Mr. Kerr visited each of the presidents to plead his cause. He was later to say that Teddy Roosevelt was the most colorful of those he visited. He had an open invitation to stop by the White House and visit President Roosevelt whenever he was in Washington.

The Sun Telegraph of Pittsburgh called him the "Father of Flag Day," as did the Evening Bulletin of Philadelphia. The Post Gazette of Pittsburgh said "he was Old Glory's most ardent champion, maintaining his schoolboy enthusiasm."

William Kerr was admitted to the bar, but instead of practicing law he chose a business career with the Pennsylvania Railroad, all the while maintaining his interest in numerous patriotic, civic, religious, and educational organizations. Because of his training in law, he was able to become co-author of Pennsylvania's first compulsory education and free textbook bills with the Honorable John R. Farr of Scranton, Pennsylvania. He was also among those responsible for having the "Pledge of Allegiance" and Bible readings used in the public schools.

It is not generally known, but he was also responsible for the erection, in Schenley Park, Pittsburgh, of a granite shrine with a bronze tablet in honor of the 150th anniversary of the flag. This shrine was built with pennies secured from the children of the Pittsburgh area, and he dedicated it with a great public demonstration. It is reported to be the only known monument of its kind in the world - a monument to a flag. This was erected in 1927, to the great delight of all the children who had participated in the event by giving their pennies.

In 1928, the Pennsylvania Railroad transferred William Kerr to Philadelphia. Soon Valley Forge became a focal point for his many appearances on Flag Day. Through the efforts of the American Flag Day Association, the Weiss-Robinson Bill was passed in the Pennsylvania State Legislature. This bill, sponsored by Judge Samuel A. Weiss, made Pennsylvania the first state to make June 14 a legal holiday.

The American Flag Day Association, never tiring in their work but increasing their efforts, were happy to learn that the 81st Congress had at last passed a bill making June 14 the official day to honor this country's emblem. That law states:

Resolved by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled.

That the 14th of June of each year is hereby designated as "Flag Day," and the President of the United States is authorized and requested to issue annually a proclamation calling upon officials of the Government buildings, on such day, and urging the people to observe the day as the anniversary of the adoption, on June fourteenth, 1777, by the Continental Congress of the Stars and Stripes as the official flag of the United States of America.

Thus, after more than fifty years of continuing effort, William Kerr was able to see his dream come true. In the late summer of 1949, still living in Yeadon, civic leader Kerr was asked to witness the signing into law of this Congressional Bill. He was eighty years old and in failing health when he went to Washington to watch President Harry S. Truman sign the Flag Day Act on August 3. He died four years later in 1953.

When the town of Yeadon was considering what they should do for their Bicentennial celebration, they chose to honor William T. Kerr, a former resident of the town. The Yeadon Bicentennial Commission asked the Franklin Mint to design and strike medals in gold, silver, and bronze with the likeness of Mr. Kerr and identifying him as Founder of Flag Day, Yeadon, Pennsylvania, on one side, and on the other side a picture of the adoption of the Stars and Stripes in 1777. At the town library there is a flag pole which proudly displays our national emblem. On it there is a plaque honoring William T. Kerr, the man who spent his life making a boyhood dream come true.

Dreams Can Come True!
Sir Knight Walter A. DeLamater and
The Beginning of the Knights Templar Eye Foundation

by Mrs. John B. Tieder

When I moved to Rhinebeck, New York, in 1946, I became a member of Beekman Chapter, O.E.S., an offshoot of the Masonic Lodge. At about the same time Walter A. DeLamater and his wife Rosalind had relocated in Rhinebeck. They, also, joined Beekman Chapter, O.E.S., and thus I met this vibrant man who eventually became Grand Master of the Grand Encampment, Knights Templar of the USA.

Major General Walter A. DeLamater was wholeheartedly immersed in all matters pertaining to the Masonic Lodge, Shriners, and the Grand Encampment, Knights Templar. He found he needed an assistant for his ongoing correspondence, and since I was a former secretary, he offered me a part-time position when he established a small office consisting of three rooms on the second floor of an old brick building in downtown Rhinebeck, Dutchess County, New York.

I well recall all the special events leading up to his election as Grand Master of the Grand Encampment. We all went to Washington, where he was presented with a specially made purple car. He was in full Knight Templar uniform. He was then in his 70s after having recovered from what was diagnosed as a non-recoverable stroke.

His personal life is interesting. His determination to regain his health was achieved because of the care of his daughter-in-law, Rosalind, and they were married in 1942 and purchased in Rhinebeck an old historic home, which had been in the DeLamater family many years previously.

Now for the dream: As Grand Master he wanted to do something that would make the Knights Templar stand out in a special way, and that was the beginning of hundreds of letters to many, many of his Knight Templar friends suggesting that they fund an Eye Foundation open to anyone needing eye care. As there were thousands of fellow Knights Templar, he suggested a small additional charge added to the dues. I especially recall his correspondence with Wilbur Brucker, then a major figure in Republican Washington and a great advocate of the Knights Templar.

On his visits throughout the United States and Canada, he pursued his dream. The correspondence increased to a point where the little office in Rhinebeck needed more backup, and in his usual straight-forward spirit, he got the funding. Every morning when we opened the mail, there would be a check from one of the Commanderies, and it soon became apparent the Knights Templar Eye Foundation was going to happen.

Eventually larger quarters were needed, and the base of operation moved to Chicago.

Major DeLamater at this time had to be well into his 80s and chose to stay in Rhinebeck.

It was an inspiration to see him start with zero and develop a major foundation.

Eventually, his health failed, and it was a sad day when I visited the hospital to see him so depleted of all his energy and waiting to die, but in my eyes he will always remain a special person who followed his dream to reality.

I attended his military funeral service at Arlington National Cemetery, a fitting salute with the black horses and carriage and full honors for a great man!

Sir Knight Robert Lake Foreman was born on August 4, 1952, to Marie and Edward A. Foreman, Sr. He was the youngest of four children. The family resided in Raspberg/Overlea, a suburb of Baltimore. Robert attended Baltimore County Public Schools and graduated in the National Honor Society. After school and during the summer, he worked at an azalea nursery near home and thereafter loved working around the yard and garden at home.

He pursued the vocation of printing, and he worked in that field along with managing a small shop of his own.

Mrs. Tieder is the wife of Sir Knight John B. Tieder, who is a member of Poughkeepsie Commandery No. 43, Poughkeepsie, New York Their mailing address is: PO Box 379, Red Hook, NY 12571

He and Susan J. Krute were married on October 26, 1985. They made their home in the country near Westminster, Maryland. They were members of the Westminster United Methodist Church. On June 25, 1988, they became the proud parents of April Marie, their only child.

Robert became involved with the Masonic family at the age of fourteen, when he became a member of the Order of DeMolay. He held memberships in many Masonic organizations: Order of DeMolay, Overlea Chapter, as Past Master Councilor, R.D., Chevalier, Legion of Honor and Blue Honor and Advisor's Key; Mt. Nebo Lodge No. 229, A. F. & AM., Past Master, St. John's RAC. No. 19, as Past High Priest, Past G.M. of 3rd Veil, Past Grand Inspector, Order of the Triple Thu; Concordia Council, Past Thrice illustrious Master, Past Grand Inspector, Order of ISH SODI; Crusade Commandery No. 5, K.T., Past Commander, Prelate; Past Grand Commander, Grand Inspector General, President, Board of Governors, KT of Baltimore; Past President, Association of Past Commanders, KT.; former editor, Knight Templar Magazine, MD Supplement; Knight Commander of the Thmple; Francis Scott Key Priory No. 14, Knights York Cross of Honour Registrar; Tidewater Council No. 334, Allied Masonic Degrees, Sovereign Master.

He was appointed R.E. Northeastern Department Commander at the 60th triennial Conclave in St. Louis, Missouri, on August 13, 1997, by the Most Eminent Grand Master James M. Ward.

Please keep Lady Susan and his daughter April in your thoughts and prayers.

(Mrs. Jack L.) Mary Ann Edwards Installed 85th
Supreme Worthy President of the S.O.O.B. for 2005-2006

(Mrs. Jack L.) Mary Ann Edwards was installed Supreme Worthy President on Friday, September 30, 2005, at the 85th Annual Supreme Assembly of the Social Order of the Beauceant held in Eugene, Oregon. She and her Sir Knight will visit 105 Assemblies across 34 states and will begin on October 3, 2005, with Eugene Assembly No. 198.

After the completion of the official visits by Mrs. Edwards, she will preside in Columbus, Ohio, at the 86th Annual Supreme Assembly to be held September 24-29, 2006.

Mrs. Edwards is a Past President of Dallas Assembly No. 63 and has served Supreme Assembly as Chairman of the Examining Committee for (Mrs. Jay U.) Nancy Ipsen and as Supreme Marshal for (Mrs. Fred) Carole Buxton, being elected as Supreme Preceptress in Addison, Texas, in 2002. Her Sir Knight, Jack L. Edwards, is a member of Dallas Commandery No. 6 and Taylor Commandery No. 85.

She was born in St. Louis, Missouri, moving to Dallas at a very early age. She attended Southern Methodist University, receiving a B.A. degree, with a minor in music, but her love for law dictated where she would spend her thirty-five career years, between raising three children. Mrs. Edwards is a very active member of White Rock United Methodist Church in Dallas, where for the past forty-two years she has served in various capacities as teacher, girls' basketball and softball coach, youth coordinator with Sir Knight Jack, and as a member of financial and administrative boards and choir; she currently plays with the Handbell choir. She is a Past Matron of Roy Stanley Chapter No. 1086 (Order of Eastern Star) and is a member of Shalman Temple No. 90, Daughters of the Nile, and Nebka Court No. 68, Ladies of the Oriental Shrine of North America, all Masonic appendant bodies. Mrs. Edwards is a third generation member of Chapter AR of P.E.O., an international philanthropic education organization. As an only child, she has stated on numerous occasions that the only way she could get "loving Sisters" was by being a part of sisterhood organizations.

For this year, she has chosen Scripture from the Holy Bible found in John 3:16 and Romans 8:28, from which came her theme: "Love is the Key." As Supreme Worthy President, Mrs. Edwards will stress the importance of rendering aid to the Sir Knights, when requested, and the continued support of their chosen philanthropy, the Knights Templar Eye Foundation, through contributions and memorials. To date, the Social Order of the Beauceant has contributed well over 1.5 million dollars to the KTEF.

Membership in any Assembly of the Social Order of the Beauceant is extended to those ladies who are wives, widows, mothers, sisters

Wielding Our Swords

My daily relationship with God starts with this from the Episcopal Book of Common Prayer: "Eternal God, in whose perfect kingdom no sword is drawn but the sword of righteousness, no strength known but the strength of love; so mightily spread abroad your Spirit, that all peoples may be gathered under the Banner of the Prince of Peace, as children of one Father, to whom be dominion and glory, now and for ever. Amen."

As Knights Templar, we vowed to wield our swords for the Christian religion if called to do so. But what is this "sword" we wield? Is it that piece of metal we hold in our right hands, or is it more? Is it us?

I am reminded of a story:

A couple were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary. At the party before family and friends, the wife said to her husband, "I want a divorce!"

"A divorce?," he said, "But why?" She replied, "Fifty years and you never tell me you love me."

or daughters of Knights Templar, and we encourage inquiry. Information regarding Assembly locations, membership, or organization may be obtained by contacting (Mrs. W. Dean) Gerry Porter, P.S.W.P., Supreme Deputy Organizer, 3907 So. County Rd. 1187, Midland, TX 79706-6424.

This article was submitted by (Mrs. R. D.) Diane Moore, P.S.W.P., Knight Templar contact for the Social Order of the Beauceant.

"That is not true!," he pleaded. "At our wedding ceremony I said I loved you. If I had changed my mind, I would have told you."

Did we only "wield our swords" at the ceremony, and do we not exemplify our faith day by day? Did we "wield" it once, and that is it? Do we as Knights Templar follow the Prince of Peace in all of our lives, in our relations with our fellow Sir Knights, and fellow men and women? Do we exemplify the life we are admonished to live? Think about it.

We are men who can lead by example in our lives and do the work of the Prince of Peace here on earth. As Knights Templar, be that example and lead.

Brother Charles Goodnight: Texas Cattle King and Western Trail Maker

by Dr. Ivan M. Tribe, KYCH, 33°

In the annals of the Trans-Mississippi cattle business, the name of Charles Goodnight ranks among the most prominent. A native of Illinois, Goodnight began raising cows in Texas for market after the Civil War and within a generation had become one of the industry giants. In addition, he lived to the ripe old age of ninety-three and saw the frontier tamed. The Colonel, as he became commonly known, also spent some sixty-six of those years as a Mason.

Charles Goodnight was born in Macoupin County, Illinois, on March 5, 1836. His paternal great-grandfather, Michael Goodnight, had come to Virginia from Germany roughly a century before. His descendants became part of the westward movement. Goodnight's father, also named Charles, died in 1841, and his mother, Charlotte Collier, remarried to one Hiram Daugherty. At the age of nine, while Texas was still an independent republic, the youth moved with his mother and stepfather, older brother, and two younger sisters to Milam County in what soon became the Lone Star State.

In 1855 he began a junket to California but halted his trip when he reached the Brazos and initiated his first venture into livestock raising in Palo Pinto County. As he built up his small herd, Goodnight also spent time as a Texas Ranger, keeping Indians at bay during the Civil War years.

One of his first biographers, Dane Coolidge, stated that being a Northerner by birth, Goodnight did not wish to fight against his own people and so served Texas by guarding against and sometimes fighting Comanches rather than Yankees. He was, in fact, doing this as early as December 18, 1860, when he participated in the Pease River fight under the direction of Captain Jack J. Cureton.

It was said that Goodnight spent about four years in the Ranger service, which at that time was more of a volunteer militia group than the state law enforcement agency that it became after 1874. The young frontiersman became especially adept at open plains country scouting.

During the Civil War years, Charles Goodnight also began his long affiliation with Masonry. Due in part to likely gaps in the files of the Grand Lodge of Texas, his record is somewhat spotty, albeit voluminous. The future cattle baron took his degrees in Jacksboro Lodge No. 238 in Jacksboro. He was initiated on June 6, 1863; passed on July 4, 1863; and raised on August 2, 1863. The following year he appears as Senior Steward in Belknap Lodge No. 274. On March 24, 1866, he affiliated with Phoenix Lodge No. 275 in Weatherford. He demitted from Phoenix on February 27, 1869. There is no record of his withdrawing or being suspended from any of these bodies, although it seems likely that this may have happened. He may have held membership in a Colorado lodge as he lived in Pueblo off and on for a time. He does not appear in Texas Grand Lodge files again until May 1910.

It was during his time of membership in Phoenix Lodge that some of the most memorable incidents in Goodnight's life took place. By the time the war ended, Texas was in a sense "cattle poor," with plenty of cows but little market for them.

Back in 1859 Oliver Loving (ca. 1812-1867) had driven Texas cattle to the Denver area to market them in the mining areas. In 1866 Goodnight and Loving formed a partnership to drive about a thousand cattle to Fort Sumner, New Mexico, where the federal government was buying beef at fair prices for 11,000 Indians and to supply western forts at good prices.

From Young County, Texas, to Fort Sumner was a dangerous journey of 600 miles. However, through a series of difficulties and hardships including one junket of more than ninety miles without water, they made it and sold their cattle for eight cents a pound on the hoof.

Sketch of Goodnight from J. Evetts Haley, Charles Goodnight: Cowman and Plainsman (1936)

The following spring they gathered some 2,500 head and went up the trail again. They had more problems with the Comanches, lost some four hundred head to the Indians, and Loving suffered wounds which eventually cost him his life; however, once the cattle were sold, Goodnight fulfilled his partner's dying wish that his body be returned to Greenwood Cemetery in Weatherford, Texas, for burial with Masonic rites.

Several scholars including Joe Bennett believe that the Masonic ties of the two men made Goodnight determined to carry out his commitment to Loving. According to Dane Coolidge, Goodnight also delivered some $40,000 to Loving's estate.

Meanwhile, in the coming years some 250,000 head of cattle would be driven up what became known as the Goodnight-Loving Trail, which ultimately extended into Colorado.

It was said that for some sixty years thereafter the cattle baron always referred to Oliver Loving as his "old pardner" and kept his portrait hanging over the mantle-piece.

Goodnight continued in the cattle business until 1871, sometimes in partnership with John Chisum, until he had accumulated a small fortune. He settled in Pueblo, Colorado, for a time and invested his profits. Goodnight married Mary Ann Dyer, usually known as Molly, on July 26, 1870, but lost most of his wealth following the Panic of 1873.

Ordinary men may have become discouraged but not Charles Goodnight, who saw opportunity back in Texas. Since he knew the cattle business about as well as anyone, Goodnight took his remaining herd of 1,600 head and in 1875 drove them to the Palo Duro Canyon country in the Texas Panhandle. He met an affluent Irish immigrant named John Adair, who owned a brokerage firm in Denver. With a $12,000 investment from Adair and his own experience, the two eventually formed a partnership as the JA Ranch in June 1877.

Initially, Goodnight simply managed the firm at a $2,500 annual salary and a third interest. Eventually the Goodnight-Adair partnership had a ranch of some 600,000 acres, leased about that much more land, and ran nearly 100,000 head of cattle.

The JA Ranch practiced progressive agriculture importing Durham, Hereford, and Angus cattle to improve the quality of their stock. Goodnight preserved a small herd of bison and attempted to create a new breed by crossing them with cows, called the "cattalo"; however, it was not a success as the hybrid proved infertile (like a mule), but he kept experimenting with the cattalo until well up in old age.

Nonetheless, the rancher received considerable credit for helping save the American bison from extinction. Like other cattlemen, Goodnight had problems with rustlers and once warned Texas Ranger, Captain George Arrington, that if the rangers could not solve the problem, he would personally take seventy-five men and take care of the rustling on his own.

It has been said that the thievery stopped. To again quote Dane Coolidge: "the Old Colonel hated a cow thief and he put the fear into many a black heart." In 1881 the cattle king took the lead in helping to form the Panhandle Stockmen's Association. Combating rustlers became one of the major goals of this organization.

John Adair died in St. Louis on May 14, 1885, and in 1887, the ranch was divided with the widow, Cornelia Adair, taking her share and becoming at "Cattle Queen" in her own right.

Goodnight sold out his own 140,000-acre ranch in 1890 but did not stay retired for long. He continued ranching on a smaller basis and remained an authority on the cattle industry as a business. He also invested in some mining properties in Mexico.

Charles Goodnight acquired a reputation as a crusty old pioneer who sometimes bordered on the eccentric. He disallowed drinking and gambling among his cowhands on the ranch; however, his principal battle was against the relatively harmless pastime of mumbletypeg, which he opposed passionately. At one point he even tried to get the Stockman's Association to ban mumbletypeg on all the ranches in the group.

A heavy cigar smoker, it had been said that he was sometimes known to smoke a box of fifty in a single day; however, as folklorist J. Frank Dobie wrote, quoting a historian named Lester Sheffy, "under [his] gruff exterior [he had] a heart as gentle and kind as any man ever possessed."

On May 28, 1910, Charles Goodnight became a member of Goodnight Lodge No. 1015 in Goodnight, Texas, the small town near his ranch that was named for him. He retained membership in this body for the remainder of his life. Unfortunately, Goodnight Lodge no longer exists.

Although not a formal church member, he contributed money to build two churches and also funded in 1898 a private school known as Goodnight College, which was converted to a public high school in 1918.

Widowed at the age of ninety, it seemed that the old cattle baron had nothing else to do but wait for the grim reaper to come, but he soon struck up a correspondence with a younger, unrelated woman named Corrine Goodnight. The two met and married on his birthday March 5, 1927, and she provided the aging pioneer with considerable comfort in his old age. Age finally caught up with the old pioneer, however, and he died in Tucson, Arizona, on December 12, 1929, at the age of ninety-three.

Charles Goodnight seems likely to be remembered as one of the most important of the so-called "cattle kings." Others may have had bigger ranches or made more money, but the Illinois-born frontiersman did pretty well at both. J. Evetts Haley, his principal biographer, called him "the most representative cowman the West has known." The more flamboyant Dane Coolidge termed the Colonel "the greatest trail-maker in Texas - a man who left his mark on the West." J. Frank Dobie wrote, "He made a deeper imprint on the Great Plains than any other man who has lived there." In 1993 the U.S. Postal Service honored him with a stamp in its "Legends of the West" series, the only cattle baron to be included, but not the only Mason as Kit Carson and Buffalo Bill Cody also had their portraits on the sheet. Like them Charles Goodnight stood high in the annals of the American frontier.

Autumn Time

With rustling rows of cornstalks,
Gay pumpkins heaped in mounds,
And hubbard squash in hummocks,
The countryside abounds.

*In garb of gold and crimson
The forest is arrayed,
The woodland wears a mantle
Of beauty on parade.*

The summer sun retreating
Leaves tonic in the air,
And in the dawn there glistens
A frosty carpet fair.

*It is a season teeming
With charm and festive cheer,
And life unfolds new treasures
When autumn days are here.*
